Azman University Students Successfully Complete Semester Exchange Programme at INTI International University, Malaysia.

Azman University has proudly announced the successful completion of a semester exchange programme by a select cohort of its students at INTI International University, Malaysia. The milestone marks another significant step in the University's ongoing commitment to providing students with meaningful international academic exposure and cross-cultural experience.

The students, drawn from the Department of Business Administration and Accounting, spent a full academic semester at INTI International University, one of Malaysia's leading private higher education institutions known for its strong international outlook and diverse student community. During their time abroad, the students were fully immersed in a new academic system, engaging with coursework, projects, and classroom experiences that broadened their understanding of business and accounting practices from a global perspective.

Beyond academics, the exchange programme offered participating students the opportunity to embrace an entirely new culture.

Students from the Department of Business Administration and Accounting return home with global exposure, new skills, and renewed confidence after representing the University abroad.

Living and studying in Malaysia exposed them to different traditions, social norms, and ways of life, experiences that fostered personal growth, adaptability, and independence. Students engaged with peers from various nationalities, building friendships and professional networks that are expected to benefit them well beyond their time at INTI.

Throughout the programme, the students consistently represented Azman University with confidence and excellence, reflecting positively on the values and academic standards the University upholds. Their conduct, discipline, and enthusiasm for learning were noted by both host faculty and fellow international students, reinforcing Azman University's growing reputation as an institution that produces well-rounded, globally minded graduates.

Speaking on the achievement, officials at Azman University expressed great pride in the students' accomplishments, noting that experiences such as this exchange programme are central to the University's mission of preparing students not only academically, but also socially and culturally, for an increasingly interconnected world. The University reaffirmed its commitment to expanding such international partnerships, with the aim of providing even more students the opportunity to study abroad in the future.

The successful completion of the programme has been celebrated across the University community, with faculty, staff, and fellow students extending their congratulations to the returning cohort.

We are so proud of you!”

Celebrating Excellence and Partnership: Azman University Honoured with Distinguished Educational Partnership Award at Ogiba Comprehensive School

It was a memorable and deeply honouring day for Azman University as the institution took part in the Speech and Prize Giving Day of Ogiba Comprehensive School, held at the prestigious Affluent Grand Marquee in Kano. The event brought together students, parents, staff, and dignitaries to celebrate academic achievement while also highlighting the strength of the partnership between the school and the University.

Representing Azman University at the ceremony was Esther O. Valentine, Head of Marketing, alongside other University representatives. The team presented a special award to the Overall Best Graduating Student of Ogiba Comprehensive School, in recognition of the student's outstanding academic excellence throughout the school year.

Speaking on behalf of Azman University, Esther O. Valentine, Head of Marketing, expressed appreciation to the management, staff, and students of Ogiba Comprehensive School for the recognition. She described the award as a shared celebration of collaborative success and reaffirmed the University's commitment to supporting educational institutions and creating meaningful opportunities for students.

She further emphasised the importance of strong partnerships between universities and secondary schools in helping students make a smooth transition from secondary education into higher learning.

The Speech and Prize Giving Day served as a fitting platform to celebrate both individual academic excellence and the positive impact of strong institutional partnerships. Azman University reiterated that such collaborations remain central to its mission of expanding access to quality education and empowering the next generation of scholars and leaders.

The University looks forward to building on its relationship with Ogiba Comprehensive School, with plans to deepen collaboration with the school and other partner institutions in the years ahead.

The event ultimately reflected the shared commitment of both institutions to academic excellence, student development, and the advancement of education within the community.

“We are truly grateful for the honour and look forward to more impactful partnerships.”

Azman University Attends KHAIRUN Colloquium, Conference and Book Presentation in Honour of Prof. Haruna Musa, Vice-Chancellor of Bayero University, Kano

Vice-Chancellor Prof. Fatima Batul Mukhtar leads University delegation to prestigious academic gathering hosted by Khalifa Isyaku Rabi'u University (KHAIRUN)

Azman University was represented at a high-profile Colloquium, Conference and Book Presentation organised in honour of Prof. Haruna Musa, FSI, Vice-Chancellor of Bayero University, Kano (BUK). The event, hosted by Khalifa Isyaku Rabi'u University (KHAIRUN), brought together scholars, academic leaders, and dignitaries for a day of intellectual engagement and celebration of academic excellence.

The University's delegation was led by its Vice-Chancellor, Prof. Fatima Batul Mukhtar, who attended the prestigious gathering in a demonstration of Azman University's commitment to fostering strong ties within Nigeria's academic community. She was accompanied by the University Librarian, Dr. Ali Garba Karaye, further underscoring the depth of the University's representation at the event

The colloquium featured thought-provoking discussions centred on the theme, “Transformative Science and Technology Education for Sustainable National Development.” Scholars and speakers examined the pivotal role that science and technology education must play in driving sustainable growth and development across the nation, offering fresh perspectives and innovative approaches to some of the sector's most pressing challenges.

The event also served as a celebration of the academic legacy of Prof. Haruna Musa, whose contributions to higher education and leadership at Bayero University, Kano, were widely commended by attendees throughout the proceedings. The accompanying book presentation further highlighted decades of scholarship and thought leadership within the region's academic landscape.

For Azman University, participation in the colloquium provided a valuable platform for intellectual engagement, knowledge exchange, and institutional collaboration. The University noted that such gatherings are instrumental in strengthening relationships between institutions and in promoting innovative approaches to education that support sustainable national development.

Azman University reaffirmed its commitment to actively engaging with the broader academic community, noting that events of this nature offer valuable opportunities to exchange ideas, forge partnerships, and contribute meaningfully to the advancement of higher education across the region and beyond.

“Azman University was honoured to participate in this significant academic gathering.”

Azman University Pays Collaboration and Inspection Visit to Northwest University, Kano

Azman University, Kano, led by its Vice-Chancellor, Prof. Fatima Batul Mukhtar, alongside other principal officers of the University, paid a collaborative and inspection visit to Northwest University, Kano. The visit forms part of the University's ongoing efforts to build strong institutional partnerships and explore avenues for shared academic growth.

The Azman University delegation was warmly received by the Vice-Chancellor of Northwest University, Kano, Prof. Amina Salihi Bayero, and members of her management team, who extended a cordial welcome to their visiting counterparts. The reception set a collegial tone for the discussions that followed, reflecting the strong spirit of cooperation between the two institutions.

During the visit, both delegations engaged in extensive discussions centred on strengthening institutional collaboration between the two universities. Discussions covered a range of areas, including opportunities for knowledge exchange, joint academic initiatives, and strategies to support the mutual growth and development of both institutions.

As part of the engagement, the Azman University delegation also conducted an inspection tour of key facilities at Northwest University, Kano, providing valuable insight into the institution's academic and operational infrastructure. The tour offered both parties the opportunity to identify areas of shared interest and potential collaboration going forward.

Officials from both universities expressed optimism that the visit would mark the beginning of a fruitful and long-term partnership, with both institutions committing to explore concrete opportunities for collaboration in the areas of academics, research, and institutional development in the near future.

Azman University commended the warm reception extended by Northwest University, Kano, describing the visit as a productive and important step towards deeper institutional cooperation. The University reiterated its commitment to building strong, mutually beneficial relationships with sister institutions across the region.

“The visit focused on strengthening institutional collaboration, knowledge exchange, and exploring opportunities for mutual growth and development ”
